INTRODUCTION

The present Catalogue of the Greek papyri and vellum MSS. in the Cairo Museum includes all those received up to the end of 1901. Prior to the year 1897, with the exception of the Gospel of Peter and the other important discoveries at Akhmim published in 1892 by the Mission Archéologique Française, the Museum's collection was limited to a few well-preserved documents and a large quantity of fragments, which were for the most part gummed down on sheets of cardboard, in some cases probably concealing writing on the back. These consisted of (1) early Ptolemaic papyri from the cartonnage of mummies found in the Fayoum, and closely related to the Petrie Papyri edited by Dr. Mahaffy; (2) some later Ptolemaic fragments from the cartonnage of mummies found at Akhmim; (3) a few late Ptolemaic documents from Gebelen, belonging to the same find as those published in our Greek Papyri, Series I and II; (4) many fragments of the Roman and late Byzantine periods, of uncertain provenance; (5) some complete documents and numerous fragments of the fourth century, mainly from Ashmunen, forming part of a find of which the major portion is preserved in the Rainer collection at Vienna. Of these miscellaneous papyri the chief Ptolemaic specimens have been edited by ourselves, others of various periods by Dr. E. J. Goodspeed and a few by other scholars. The importance of the unpublished papyri is not great; but we give in the present volume the texts of three interesting theological pieces, (1) a fragment of an uncanonical gospel (10735), (2) a fragment concerning the correspondence between Christ and Abgarus (10736), and (3) a Christian prayer (10696).
Since 1897 the Museum has received a large selection of well-preserved documents, chiefly of the Roman and Byzantine periods, from our earlier excavations at Behnesa and in the Fayoum in 1896-1899. Most of these have been published or described by us in the Oxyrhynchus Papyri, Parts I-III, or in Fayûm Towns and their Papyri. During the next few years extensive additions will be made to the collection through the division of the papyri which were found in our later excavations in the Fayoum and elsewhere, and in the excavations of M. Jouguet, but which have all been provisionally sent to Europe for publication.

In the following catalogue the remark 'Fibres vertical' means that the writing is on the recto of the papyrus, but at right angles to the fibres. Where no such remark is made, the writing is, as usually happens, along the fibres. Except where the contrary is stated, the writing is on the recto. The measurements throughout refer to metres. The numbers of the papyri in the catalogue are uniformly printed in heavy type. In the case of Greek words square brackets [ ] indicate a lacuna, round brackets ( ) the expansion of an abbreviation, and letters with dots under them are to be considered uncertain.

III. CLASSIFICATION ACCORDING TO SUBJECTS

A. LITERARY.

1. Classical:
   - Epic: Poetry, 10578.
   - Homer II. i, 10217.
   - Homer II. ii, 10546.
   - Homer II. iii, 10813.
   - Homer II. iv, 10443.
   - Homer II. vii, 10814.
   - Homer II. xii, 10215.
   - Homer II. xix, 10794.
   - Commentary on Od. xxi, 10548.
   - Mathematics, 10758.
   - Philosophy, 10244, 10847, 10858.
   - Science, 10160 R.
   - Uncertain, 10866.

2. Theological:
   - Apocalypse of Peter, 10759.
   - Book of Enoch, 10759.
   - Gospel of Peter, 10759.
   - Uncanonical Gospel, 10735.
   - Letter of Christ to Abgarus, 10736.
   - Prayers (heathen), 10563.
   - (Christian), 10288, 10398, 10434, 10896.
   - Uncertain, 10730.

B. DOCUMENTS.

1. Embassy before the Emperor (Rom.), 10448.
   - Proceedings of the Boule (Early Byz.), 10822.
   - Proceedings of the Ecclesia (Early Byz.), 10073.
   - Trial before the δροςκομαστής (Rom.), 10682.
   - Trial before the governor of the Thebaid (Early Byz.), 10269, 10723.
   - Other trials (Rom.), 10328, 10812 R; (Early Byz.), 10257.

2. Edicts and official orders:
   - Edict of the praefect (Rom.), 10766.
   - Orders for sending accused persons (Rom.), 10234, 10235; (Early Byz.), 10498, 10539.
   - Promise of administration (Late Byz.), 10760-1.

3. Official reports and correspondence:
   - (Ptol.) 10293, 10271, 10275, 10282, 10286, 10297, 10300, 10340, 10342 R, 10583.
   - (Rom.) 10005, 10282, 10584, 10585, 10862, 10887, 10988, 10976, 10971.

1 This classification is based upon that instituted by Wilcken in Archiv für Papyrologie, I, pp. 4-24, but is necessarily much less detailed, since many of the Cairo papyri have not been copied in extenso or are too fragmentary to admit of a precise determination of their contents. With regard to the chronological grouping of them, we have in preference to Wilcken's division of the periods into Ptolemaic, Roman (B.C. 30—A.D. 253), Byzantine (A.D. 254-642), and Arabic (later than A.D. 642), divided the periods into Ptolemaic, Roman (B.C. 30—A.D. 253), Early Byzantine (A.D. 254-400) and Late Byzantine (later than A.D. 400). Since fifth century papyri are very rare, and fourth century documents are both internally and externally much more closely connected with those of the third than with those of the sixth century, and since on the other hand papyri of the Arabic period can but rarely be distinguished from those of the sixth and early seventh centuries, a line of division at A.D. 400 seems more convenient and practical than one at A.D. 642.

B and V following a number signify recto and verso.
